

Reading and Phonics Website

This website has links for students who are learning letters and sounds in addition to activities for the Early Beginning Reader, Intermediate Beginning Reader, and Early Beginning Reader to Advanced.

<http://www.starfall.com/>

Dear Parents,

Welcome to Starfall.com, a family friendly website where your child can have fun while learning to read!

Reading is a vital part of life and we feel that no child should be left behind. That is why we are offering this on-line website for free to everyone. Our books and games offer beginning readers the opportunity to explore and interact with words and the sounds that make up those words. Decoding is an essential skill that will develop your child into a fluent reader some day. We focus on simple, fun interactivity and the sounding out of almost every word. All your child has to do is click on the screen, watch and listen!

We know that children learn to read at different developmental stages, but encouragement and support of your child's interest in reading is very important. Our stories and games are meant to foster your child's exploration and curiosity with the written word. Let your child play and have fun learning! Then, ask them to read to you, listen carefully, and be patient.

We encourage your child to start with the ABC's then move on to the Learn to Read book #1 and then read the books and play the games in sequential order.

Children acquire reading skills through a long series of "little steps"...so when your child reads, even a few words, BE VERY PROUD of them! It's truly a wondrous accomplishment!!!

Sincerely,
The Starfall Team

P.S. Stay tuned for more Starfall.com reading fun, we are constantly developing and working to spread the love of literature and the desire to read.